To Whom It May Concern:

This is to say that several years ago, when I owned a private residence in Stamford, Connecticut, I from time to time used the professional services of the Coppola and Sons Construction Company. They performed excellent work at a reasonable price for me on several different projects on my residential property, concerning maintenance and replacement of flagstones on walks and porch. I was impressed with their conscientious approach to their work and based upon my experience with them, I would recommend them for projects similar to those that involved my property.

Sincerely,

Warren W. Eginton
